A SUM OF MONEY WAS CONCEALED. Puttsburg, March 23 .- The four masked robbers who have for the last two years been operating in and around Findlayville, on the Baltimore and Ohjo Rail-road, in Washington County, turned up in that neigh-borhood again yesterday and added another atroclous outrage to their already long list of crimes. They went to the house of J. C. McLelland, a wealthy farmer, in the absence of all member of the housschold Mrs. William Kerr, McLelland's married ter, and her eighteen menths' old baby. Mc Lelland had gone to Washington, Penn., to deposit $2,000 in the bank. The robbers were after this, and sacking the house. The baby cried and one of the en grabbed it by the throat, choking it. flew at the fellow, who dealt her a blow with his fist, knocking her to the floor. She was then thrown upon a bed, while one of the gang stood over her with a drawn revolver.

After an hour's search, felled in their attempt to and the money, the fellows returned to the helpless roman and demanded that she tell where the money was secreted. This she was unable to do. Roughly ning her hair they cut it from her head. of the men took the baby from the room. Soon mother heard the baby's screams, and was told that her child was being killed by inches, and that the only way to save its life was to disclose the hidingof the money. The frantic mother tugged at onds until they cut into the fiesh and blood her bonds until they cut into the flesh and blood gushed from her finger-nails. Finally the men ran from the house, and a little later Mrs. Kerr's struggles loosened her hands. Grasping her child in her arms she ran to a neighbor's house and fell ka a faint at the door. When consciousness was restored she told her story and a posse of triends organized to hunt for the robber's. So far no trace of the men has been discovered. An examination of the baby showed where its tender flesh had been pinched to make the stant scream.

TESTING A NEW DYNAMITE SHELL.

SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENTS WITH THE LEFEVRE BREMNER PROJECTILE AT SYRACUSE.

Syracuse, N. Y., March 23 (Special).-Captain The ore F. Jewell, superintendent of the gun works at the Washington Navy Yard, arrived here this morning to inspect the test of the Lefevre-Eremner dynamite certridge, which is expected to revolutionize modern variare. The tests were made this afternoon, and were highly successful. Fully 5,000 people witnessed the experiments. The tests were made about a quar-ter of a mile in the rear of the old arsenal on rising nd, which was indicated to curious sightseers by an American flag floating close to the gun. On sides of the range were the jagged sides of a stone quarry, and 175 yards from the muzzle of the gur was a broad stretch of solid rock into which the projectiles were thrown.

Nine shells were fired altogether this

The shell has a casing of forged steel, the best that can be made, but a fraction of an inch smaller than the bore of the gun. The rear cap, which comes in contact with the powder, has a felt padding of several taches. Within this casing is the second shell, rest-Ing on finely graded springs, attached to the end caps. Within this again is a shell of wood, which contains the nitro-glycerine, dynamite, or whatever is desired to be used as an explosive. The explosion of the cartridges when they struck the wall of rock was as loud as the report produced by much larger guns, and immense quantities of rock were sent flying in all directions, large pieces being thrown at least half a mile. Several Government experts were present, and expressed themselves as highly pleased with the result of the tests.

SCIENTIST IN THE FACE OF DEATH.

ATTEMPT OF A DARTMOUTH STUDENT TO COM-MIT SUICIDE.

Hartford, March 23 (Special).-The attempt of Alfred Stille Ives, a student at Dartmouth, to commit suicide in this city last month, has just come to light. The young man is the son of Dr. Robert S. Ives, a well-known physician of New-Haven, and the grand-son of Alfred Stille, ex-Provost of the University of Pennsylvania, the eminent toxicologist. Young Ives left Dartmouth on February 27 and came to this city. His first idea was to enlist in the United States Army and thus to disappear from his friends and relatives. His trustfulness, however, prevented his being sucrecruiting officers put him through a cross-examination and he admitted that he had run away from college without his father's knowledge. He was therefore not allowed to enlist.

Ives then went to Heublein's Hotel, in this city, and engaged a room. He went to his room that night. The following morning at 8:30 o'clock, the chambermaid entered his room, the door being un-locked. Ives was lying on the bed; his coat and shoes were off. He was breathing heavily. The woman supposed that he had been drinking and went away. An hour later she returned. Ives was still apparently asleep. She went away again and came back in half an hour. This time, his peculiar breathing alarmed her and she told the clerk that she thought something was the matter with the guest. The clerk at once summoned Dr. Wolf, an expert toxicologist, who happened to be calling on a patient in the hotel. He found the student in a profound come and evidently near death's door,

At first the physician did not know whether the case was one of aremia or of morphine poisoning. On the table were the picture of a young girl, the daughter of G. Pierpont Davis, medical director of the Travellers' Insurance Company, and a scaled letter. The doctor hastily opened the letter. It was a statement that the writer had taken poison because he was disappointed in a love affair. The Young man had made a special study of chemistry and said he wanted to add to the store of knowledge about the effect of poisons. He therefore coolly described his symptoms.

He had taken ninety-six grains of chotal and twelve of cpium, 5e wrote. He had put the morphine in two ounces of a 10 per cent solution of chloral. At 9:45 p. m. he took some of the poison; at 10 o'clock, half of the rest, and afteen minutes later be dract the glass. He wrote an accurate account of his sensations until he felt that he was becoming insensible. Then he put the writing in an envelope, which he senied.

Dr. Welif went to work on the patient at once.

He had him walked up and flown the room all day and save him coffee and other antidotes. Ives had taken enough of the drug to kill a large number of men, but too much to kill one, for ne recovered. His father was summoned by telegraph and aided in treating him.

STILL BELIEVES IN THE LOMBARD COMPANY. Philadelphia, March 23.-George Burnham, chairman of the committee of stockholders of the Lombard Investment Company, says regarding the statement from Boston by Isaac P. T. Edwards, of the advisory beard of the company, that while the circular issue by his committ e deservedly scores the management, it does not contain a single allegation that is not fully substantiated by the report itself. "Although this committee," he says, "cannot accept the reseate views of the company's condition recently published its faith in its restoration to a sound figureral con-dition under proper management is unabaseo."

A CUSTOM HOUSE BROKER ACCUSED.

A investigation is being made by the officers at the Custom House of charges brought against M. S. Friede, a Custom House broker of No. 29 Broadway, by some Syrians of No. 77 Washington-st. Aldala Klarsa says he gave him $400 for an indemnity bond, and that he has never been able to get it back. Friede, it is said, would no give it up with the bill of lading, and the Syrlan had no bill, or if he did have, didn't know what it was.
